

Is Wal-Mart Eavesdropping on You at Work?

Hidden cameras?

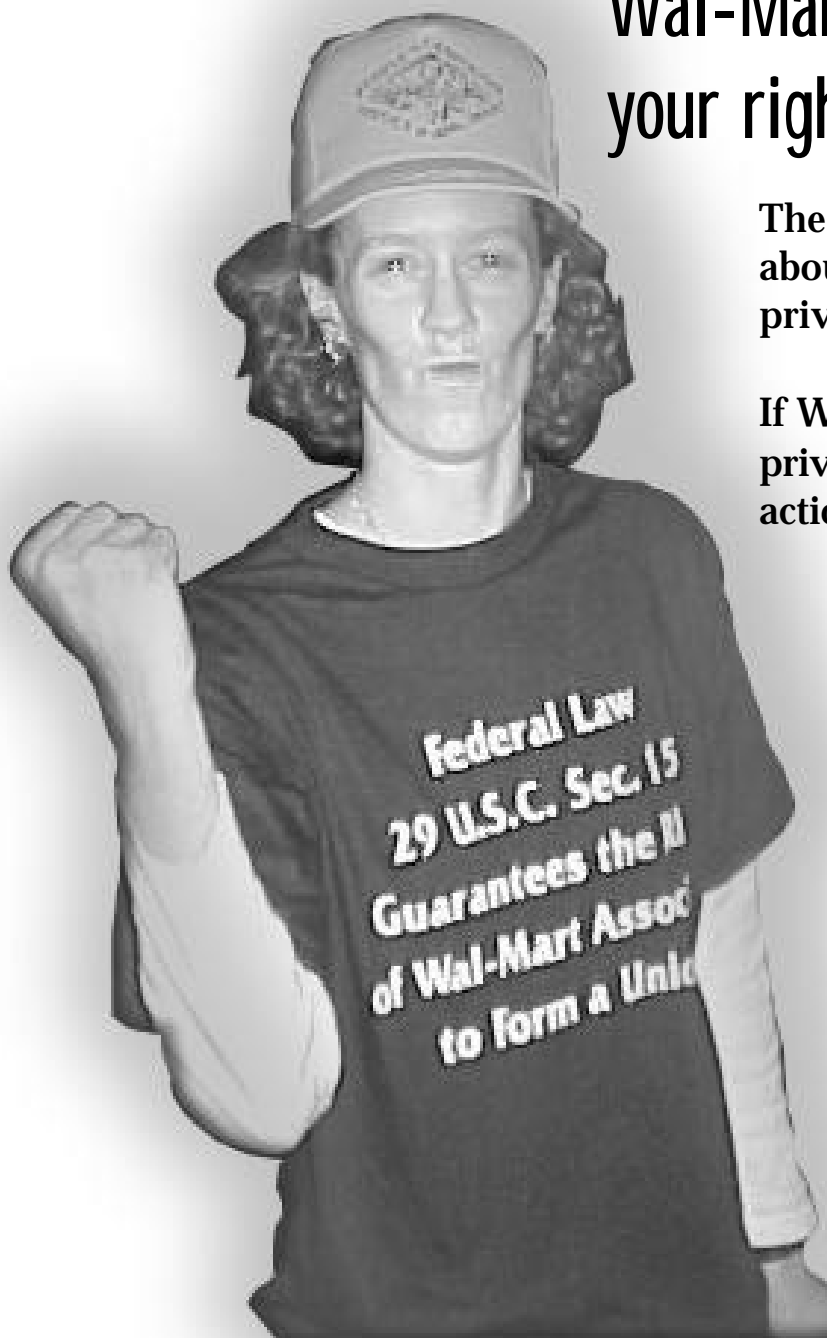

Microphones in break rooms and on sales floors?

Wal-Mart managers listening in on associates' private conversations?

That's what associates are telling the UFCW.

Not only does this invade associates' privacy, it violates the laws of several states.

Wal-Mart should respect your right to privacy.

The UFCW is collecting information about Wal-Mart listening in on your private conversations.

If Wal-Mart's violates your right to privacy, the UFCW will take legal action to get Wal-Mart to stop.

If you are aware of any instances when Wal-Mart used microphones to listen to your conversation or the conversation of someone you know,
